WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 16.—The state department is disposed to have more respect for Venezuela's position in the case of the refugee Mijares, since the announcement by Senor Pietrie in yesterday morning's Herald that General Crespo intends to hold the consignees of the steamer Philadelphia responsible for her captain's refusal to surrender Mijares. It is quite clear to the officials now that the Venezuelan authorities have a good case, or otherwise they would be induced to let the matter drop. An official admitted today that the Venezuelan authorities would have a perfect right to arrest and punish the consignees of the Philadelphia if it should be proved that Mijares was a criminal under the common law. The department heretofore has calculated that Minister Scruggs had prima facie evidence that he was a political refugee, and that the charge of cattle stealing was simply trumped up to get him off the steamer. In this light he would undoubtedly be upheld by this government, and the arrests of the consignees would probably result in a protest from the state department. While still unwilling to say much about the case, until Minister Scruggs has made his report, there are intimations since the publication of Minister Pietrie's letter, that the captain of the Philadelphia was in error after all, and that he may yet have to apologize to Venezuela for carrying off one of her criminals.

To Minister to the Lepers.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 16.—Miss Studer, known in religious circles as Sister Mary Albini, passed through St. Louis, her old home, yesterday from Syracuse, N.Y., en route to the Sandwich Islands, where she will go to nurse the lepers at Molokai. She will sail from San Francisco on the 23rd instant, and will reach her destination about ten days later, there to be in almost solitary confinement, surrounded by the afflicted and giving assistance to the distressed until she in turn has to be treated for the same disease. Sister Mary Albini is well-known in St. Louis. She was born in this city 22 years ago, and was the only daughter of Edward and Cecile Lagrave Studer, a well-known and highly respected family. Her mother died in March, 1891, and she and her father went to New Mexico, where her father was taken ill and was nursed by the Roman Catholic sisters. When he recovered it was his desire that his daughter Miriam should become of their order, which she did. A year ago last July she went to Syracuse and entered as a novitiate of the Francis order. She is well educated and a remarkably handsome woman, and her desire to go among the lepers is a great surprise to her friends and kinsfolk.

Quarrelled Over a Woman.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., Nov. 16.—A fatal stabbing affray occurred in old Albuquerque last night. Two Mexican confidence men, Daniel Ramiers and Hillar Garcia, quarrelled over a Mexican woman, and Ramiers plunged a stiletto into the heart of Garcia. Jose Apoda, a half-breed Apache Indian, was the only eye-witness of the murder, the woman being in a stupor in her room near by. The murderer escaped over the Rio Grande and took the route to the Indian village of Isletta, whence he intended taking the first train for Old Mexico. This morning the sheriff received a telegram that Ramiers was seen at Isletta, and he at once sent a deputy after him. The murderer is now safely behind the bars in the county jail.

At the Mercy of the Utes.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Nov. 16.—A vigorous remonstance is likely to be forwarded to Washington against the permanent withdrawal of the United States troops, who were removed from this point to Fort Logan to-day. The white settlers are greatly exercised over the proceeding. They have had experience with the White River Indians and the Umcompahgres, as it was the same Indians who participated in the cruel and bloody massacre at Meeker in 1879. The removal of the troops leaves about 3000 settlers in the Ashley Valley at the mercy of at least 5000 bloodthirsty, pilfering Utes. No explanation has been vouchsafed by the War Department, and the ranchmen are at a loss to understand the movement.

Misfortune Crazed Him.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 16.—This noon groans were heard issuing from a room at No. 2 Thatcher Court, and neighbors burst open the door, and found Guiseppi Fetaua, an Italian, lying on his bed with the bodies of his two children, 6 and 7 respectively. The man had murdered the children and cut his own throat. He left a letter written in Italian saying he was determined to kill the children. He was taken to the hospital. His wife died some weeks ago and the loss is supposed to have made him insane.

Mirth Turned to Mourning.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A dispatch to Reuter's telegraph agency from Salamanca, tells of a pitiful accident at that place. A wedding party, belonging to the better class of society, had gone to a restaurant to celebrate the occasion by a feast. The members of the bride's and bridegroom's families and friends numbered more than two score. While the celebration was in progress the building suddenly collapsed, crushing and burying the merry-makers in the ruins. People who witnessed and heard of the calamity thronged to the scene and began the work of rescue. This was difficult, owing to the heavy debris under which many of the victims were buried. The bodies were taken out crushed beyond recognition. When the work of the searchers was completed, it was found that seven were killed by the ruins, and thirty others seriously injured.

THAT TELL TALE JEWELRY.

The Beagans Have Their Preliminary Hearing in the Police Court Yesterday.

May Todhunter's Jewelry Furnishes Strong Evidence Against Them.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 16.—All day yesterday till 9 p.m. the police court sat hearing the charge of murder against the Beagans, committed on May Todhunter on the 26th of February. The charges against Birdie Kazar and Pearl Deming were withdrawn. The city hall, where police court is held, was literally packed all the time. Most of the evidence has been published before. The new points given in the evidence were that Birdie Kazar lived in the house, and Mrs. Beagan came to the house and passed under the name of Lilly Mills. She stayed a day and a half. The jewelry possessed by the deceased consisted of a gold bar pin, earrings, a diamond ring, and a wedding ring, which she wore on the morning of the murder.

Sergeant Carty testified that he saw the Beagans at the corner of Columbia and Blackie streets on the morning of the 26th, about 2:30, close to Todhunter's house. He first saw them at the rear of the house on McNeely street, when he emerged from the darkness and spoke to them they stopped.

Florence Palmer said that the deceased on the night before the murder had about $400 with her.

Mrs. Lyons, of Ashcroft, said she knew the Beagans since spring. She saw jewelry on Mrs. Beagan when first she knew her, she saw it last about a month ago. It was a small gold brooch with three stones which she described as similar to that Birdie Kazar and Pearl Deming described as the one owned by deceased. Witness also saw that witness had a diamond ring. Mrs. Beagan had jewelry on her on Sunday before Burr spoke to her. But she did not have it on Monday. The evidence showed that the Beagans returned to the Eickhoff House on the morning of the murder about 6, veiled so that Mrs. King, the proprietress, was unable to recognize them.

The charge against Beagan is now on and all remarks are reserved till the evidence in both cases is in. It is expected that they will be sent up for trial as the circumstantial evidence against them is very strong. The Kazar girl fainted in the witness box, which caused quite a commotion in court.

Brazilian Republicans Beaten.

VALPARAILO, Nov. 16.—News comes of further fighting in Rio Grande du Sal. The Federal forces attacked Villa Rosario, near San Gabriel, yesterday, killing a number of Republicans and taking others prisoners. The Republicans repulsed the Federal forces at Dom Pedro Rivera. Chica has been occupied by the Federalists. A number of Republican chiefs are hiding along the frontier. There is much anger against the Uruguayan authorities for allowing Federals to organize their forces on Uruguayan territory.

A Vindictive Enemy.

SAN BARNARDINO, Cala., Nov. 16.—A jury has been impanelled in the case of E. Walters, charged with the murder of Ira Wall, near Temescal, last September. The Walters and Wall families both claimed the same water, but the courts decided in favor of Wall. Young Walters was camping besides the water, and in the early morning Wall and his mother came driving along. Walters fired, killing Wall instantly. He then turned his gun on Mrs. Wall, inflicting a dangerous wound.

Robbed the Bank.

WOODSTOCK, Minn., Nov. 16.—Two masked bandits entered the bank at this place last evening and demanded of Cashier Perry and his assistant, Mr. Craig, that they open the vault. One of them took Perry in charge while the other robber forced Craig to enter the vault. The robber then helped himself to what he wanted and the pair left with a large amount. The officers say $10,000, but it is feared the amount is far greater.

The Planz Murder.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 16.—The $2000 reward, $1,000 by the San Francisco Breweries company and $1000 by the citizens of San Jose, has furnished an incentive to the officers in trying to ferret out the murderers of Henry Planz. Several San Francisco detectives are here. The woman theory seems to be the most plausible, as the list of married ladies with whom he was very friendly increases.

Politics at Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—The steamer Australia arrived from Honolulu at 11 this morning. Shortly before the steamer sailed the queen had summoned G. N. Wilcox to form a new cabinet. To-day is to be observed as a national holiday throughout the kingdom, it being the birthday anniversary of the late king, Kalakaua.

Canada's Minister of Finance Expresses his Views to a London Audience.

He Urges Englishmen Not to Make a Fetish of the Free Trade Question.

Shocking Fatality at Salamanca. Spanish Convicts Enjoy Brief Liberty.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Hon. George E. Foster spoke on the outlook in Canada at a meeting held to-day by the city branch of the Imperial Federation league. His speech was mainly a eulogy of Canada's progress since Confederation, omitting all reference to the last census. He pleaded for the growth of Imperial sentiment and the guidance of emigration to the colonies. Respecting Imperial Federation, he argued that tariffs should be framed according to the circumstances and times in which they operated. He asked Englishmen not to regard free trade as a fetish any more than the Canadians regarded protection. He believed that a union of trade interests would greatly strengthen the existing bonds. The loyalty question was a difficult one, but would be solved if the people resolved to solve it. No discussion followed.

Too Poor to Bury Their Child.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 16.—The case of Ste Cunegonde, the man who burnt his baby in the cook stove to save save funeral expenses, was recalled at an inquest held this morning at the morgue. A child had been found buried in a cellar. The mother, being sworn, said the child was dead and they were too poor to bury it. The father wanted to burn it in the cooking stove, but the mother would not consent, so it was interred in the cellar. A verdict was rendered in accordance with these facts.

Quickly Quelled.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A dispatch to Reuter's from Tarragona, Spain, states that a mutiny broke out among the convicts in the prison at that place. The convicts attempted to break out, and made such a formidable attack on the keepers and wardens that the latter were unable to subdue them. The convicts obtained virtual control of the prisons and troops were called in to bring them to subjection. As the convicts presisted in refusing to surrender, the troops fired upon them, killing nine and wounding 16. The others were then driven back to their cells.

Money is What He Wanted.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—An order-in-council has been passed by the government granting $1600 to Dr. Bergin, the member for Cornwall, being the balance he claimed as due him for his services in the Northwest rebellion. This will make $5000 he receives in all for his services to the country. It is said he will now waive his claim to a seat in the cabinet.

For the World's Fair.

NAPLES, Nov. 16.—The steamer Constellation is now here for the purpose of taking on board and conveying to the United States works of art by American artists, for the Chicago Exposition. She will also take works of art lent by the Italian museums. She will probably remain here until Nov. 25th.

Liquor at Auction Sales.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—A petition is being signed among the Roman Catholic clergy, asking for an amendment to the license law which will prohibit the distribution of liquor among those who attend auction sales in country districts. This pernicious custom now prevails in almost every parish.

THE WHITE GLOVES.

Vancouver's First Assizes Guiltless of One Sinner—Ald. McGuigan Roused.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16.—The first assizes of the Vancouver judicial district was held this morning, Justice McCreight and Judge Bole presiding. The venu in all cases was changed to New Westminster, consequently the judges received the customary white gloves. The grand jury in their presentment recommended that a court house and jail be built here; the erection of a separate fireproof building for a land registry office and a better system of selecting petit jurors. The Vancouver bar afterwards lunched the two judges.

Ald. McGuigan threatens legal action against two aldermen who stated that he exceeded the powers given him with regard to paying bills.

Mayor Cope was asked by Mayor Townsend to urge upon the provincial goverument that Seattle be declared an infected port. No action yet taken.

Owing to bad stage arrangements the Carra Morris company declined to continued the performance last night and returned the money. The company will sue the manager for the loss.

WIPED OUT BY FIRE.

A Miner's House Destroyed—The Ship Sergeant Libel—High Saloon Licenses.

NANAIMO, Nov. 16.—J. Collishaw's house on the "five acre" blocks caught fire early yesterday morning while he was at work in the mines, and when he returned he found only the cinders of what formed his home the previous night. Collishaw "banked" the fire on going to work, and it is presumed the coal swelled and burst all over the room. The fire was seen by a few neighbors, but they could do nothing to extinguish it, as there were no means at hand for such a purpose. The house and furniture were insured for $1100 in the Royal and London Canadian Insurance Company. Mr. W. K. Leighton received a telegram to pay the demand at once.

Miss Jean Howison gave a lecture on Robert Burns in the opera house last evening. The lady drew a large audience and the Scotchmen turned out in force to listen to the songs of their native land. Miss Howison was greatly appreciated and was repeatedly applauded throughout the evening.

A concert and dance was given in the school house at Northfield last evening in aid of St. Luke's Church. The affair was highly successful, and the large numbers who went out from the city assisted in making it so. The programme was a very select one.

The American ship C. F. Sergeant, Capt. Snow, has been released, but the matter of salvage has not yet been adjusted. Bonds were furnished for the release of the ship and the salvage claim will be contested before a jury.

The saloon keepers again petitioned the council on Monday night to reduce their licenses about $100 a year, but without effect. The saloon keepers pleaded a stagnation of business and say they are paying too high a license, and that a reduction ought to be made to suit the times. The matter was discussed at great length but failed to gain the point sought in the petition.

The Epworth League gave a social and supper in the school room of the Wallace street Methodist church last evening. The affair was greatly enjoyed by a large audience, and the singing was loudly applauded.

The body of Peter Butler, who occupied the position of chief engineer of the Isabel for so long, was brought down from Hornby Island this morning. The deceased had been out hunting and walked into a bear trap of the "dead fall" kind. He had been there several days; his body was discovered.

Populists and Republicans.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 16.—Gen. Weaver has written an open letter to Chairman Taubeneck of the Populist national committee, thanking him and those who supported the populist ticket in the late campaign. Gen Weaver congratulates the party on the success already achieved, and expresses the belief that the Republicans are likely to join the Populists and aid in winning a victory for that party.

Dining Cars.

Dining cars are generally run at a loss and are attached to trains simply as a matter of attraction, according to the Public Opinion. A steward, four cooks and five waiters are attached to each car. The food costs from $1000 to $1500 a month. It costs from $16,000 to $22,000 a year to run one of these cars, exclusive of the wear and tear on the property and incidentals. In some places, and particularly in the South, sleepers are also run at a loss. A sleeping car leaving New York for Chicago is supplied with 120 sheets, 120 pillow slips, and 120 towels. The washing is done in different cities, and is given out in great quantities at the low rate of $1 per 100 pieces. An equipment of linen, which lasts a year, is purchased in amounts of $50,000 worth at a time. One company, for 700 cars uses every thirty days, 2400 dozen cakes of toilet soap, 1200 dozen boxes of matches, 35 dozen hair brushes, 50 dozen whisks, 60 dozen combs, and a vast number of sponges and feather dusters. Porters receive from $30 to $50 a month.

Photography.

According to M. Rossell, the eminent artist in photography, beautiful blue transparencies may be produced by means of a very simple process. In carrying this out, commercial cyanotype paper is exposed beneath a negative until the image will be very intensely visible, when it it thoroughly washed and placed for fifteen minutes in a 10 per cent. solution of bichromate of potash. After the print has again been well washed, it is allowed to dry, and then rendered transparent by placing it on a warm glass plate and treating it carefully to paraffine. The print is now framed between two glass plates. The cyanotype paper employed in this case, giving white lines of a blue ground, is very easily prepared; that is plain photograph paper is placed in a solution of twenty-five grams ammonia-citrate of iron and twenty-five grams of potassium ferricyanide in 150 c. c. of water, and then drying it in the dark.

At the Y. M. C. A., yesterday evening Mr. F. W. Teague delivered an address on "Chosen—Where two roads meet." Rev. J. E. Coombes will speak to-night on "God's way the only way."

CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

The Conference at Halifax—Union of the Two Colonies Yet in the Distance.

Canada's Cattle Misfortune — The Mistaken Prosecution of Ex-Premier Mercier.

From our own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Several important questions are now agitating the public mind here, and therefore the minor matters of cabinet changes are left in abeyance. For instance, there are the commercial difficulties between Canada and Newfoundland, which representatives from the two Governments are now trying to settle in conference at Halifax, N.S. The most important item, apart from the question of customs rates, &c., is the bait difficulty. During the discussion of these matters the whole fishery question is sure to come up, and the hope is entertained that an amicable and satisfactory settlement will be arrived at. The larger question of our lone sister colony, away out as a sentinel in the sea, guarding the approach to Canadian territory, is certain to be informally talked over. But the talk of union is somewhat premature. Newfoundland as part of Canada would be desirable for military purposes, but in regard to commerce it would add burdens which the Dominion taxpayer would not care to shoulder at the present time. The debt of Newfoundland would have to be transferred to Ottawa, and the other monetary terms which would have to be given to the island would be altogether too much for us to bear. However, the ultimate destiny of Newfoundland is likely to become part of Canada, many now holding that without it we cannot be complete. Sir John Thompson, Hon. MacKenzie Bowell and Hon. J. A. Chapleau are the Canadian delegates.

THE CANADIAN CATTLE TRADE.

The fates are evidently against Hon. John Carling. His department has recently been stripped of much of the work which formerly belonged to it, and the suggestion has been on the rounds for some time that it be wiped out of existence altogether. Better, however, than this last remedy that a new minister be appointed to the head of it, so that some life may be thrown into a department which ought to be one of the most important in the public service. While these matters are being discussed the cable brings the intelligence that Canada has been placed on the scheduled list. By this is meant that no live stock from Canada will after the 21st inst. be allowed to go inland in Britain, but will require to be killed at the port where they arrive. This means that an export trade of $8,000,000 will be partly lost to Canada. At the last general election the cry was sent all along the line to defeat the Liberals on the ground that unrestricted reciprocity, which would permit United States cattle into Canada, would deprive us of this large trade. We are now deprived of it, and that, too, without any benefits that would accrue from reciprocity. The members of the ministry, as well as the organs, are saying that it is not a bad thing after all, since it will compel the Canadian farmer to fatten his beef so that slaughter houses may be opened up in Canada the same as is the case in the United States. When anything happens to deprive the farmer of a sufficient profit for his produce, he is at once told by the Government that it is his own fault, that he should do something else. He raises the wrong kind of horses, so he is told once the McKinley bill has struck him, and now he sells the wrong kind of cattle—when the country has been scheduled. When the United States retaliates against Canadian legislation, the farmer is again told that he should seek a market in Britain. It is easy to give advice, but the Canadian farmer is getting tired of it. We have been told time and again that it was Sir Charles Tupper who was preventing Canada being scheduled, but it seems that neither our High Commissioner nor the Premier and Finance Minister, who are both in England, were of much service in this case. Indeed, Canada was not advised of what was to happen until the Imperial authorities decided to prohibit the importation of live cattle.

WHAT BRITISH COLUMBIA SHOULD DO.

If the representatives of British Columbia in the House of Commons have any influence at all, as many seriously doubt, they can now get the quarantine lifted in your province, as there need be no good reason for maintaining it since Canada has been placed on the same footing as the United States in Britain. If they have a spare moment they might apply themselves to this.

HONORE MERCIER.

Mr. Mercier has been acquitted. The trial from its inception bore all the earmarks of a persecution. Its germ was more personal than political, for from March 8th until yesterday Mr. Mercier was not a political figure. He was a man who had been denuded of every vestige of power. He had lost position, influence, money, health and to a large extent friends. He had been made the scapegoat by which the Canadian people had eased their minds about the rascalities of other public men. To reach him and strike him down the Dominion Government turned aside from the whitewashing of Langevin and Cochrane, the screening of Haggart and Chapleau, to conduct an enquiry, by illegal methods, in a field not subject to its jurisdiction. The representative of the Crown in the province of Quebec used the prerogatives the English Queen dare not avail herself of, to prepare the plans of the conspirators. Mr. Mercier was dismissed from office, hauled before commissions composed of bitter partisans; his every action twisted and put in the worst possible light; and finally his parliamentary following was dissipated by an appeal to the people, made in defiance of the express letter of the constitution. All these things were done without any wide-spread perception by the public of the unfairness of the proceedings. It was indisputable that the Mercier administration was extravagant and in many respects corrupt; the evidence was clear that, either by the connivance or carelessness of those in responsible positions, public moneys were being shamefully misapplied; and the public—perhaps because it was a little ashamed of its willingness to have Langevin, Caron, Haggart, Chapleau and Cochrane shielded by trivial technicalities—approved of every effort to bring Mercier to the dust. In this way Mercier was dethroned.

Instead of ruining Mr. Mercier he has once more been made the idol of a large section of the province, and amidst the tumult of demonstrations and the blare of brass bands and big ovations he declares he will take his seat in the Legislature and meet his persecutors face to face. SLABTOWN.

There was a stormy time at the Montreal Conservative Club. After the election of officers had taken place, the outgoing president, Mr. Villeneuve, asked whether it was the intention of the club to support the De Boucherville Government. The question gave rise to a bitter discussion over the acts of the Government. It was moved that the club, while supporting Mr. De Boucherville, protest against the unjust new taxes which that Government has imposed. After a long debate, an amendment was moved and adopted that the club adjourn until some understanding could be reached on the subject.

A cable dispatch from St. Johns, Nfld., states that the ss. State of Georgia has put into that port badly damaged in consequence of the recent stormy weather she met after leaving the Straits of Belle Isle. It is stated that the ship is leaking badly, her machinery is disabled and her cargo of live stock is in a battered condition. The State of Georgia left Montreal about a month ago, and during her voyage down the St. Lawrence ran aground at Cape La Roche. Here her cargo was unloaded and she was floated and docked at Quebec, where she underwent repairs, leaving that port a fortnight ago. The repairs were only temporary, and it is feared that the stormy weather of the past week wrought much havoc to the ship. No loss of life is reported. The vessel carried 160 head of cattle.

CREAM'S EXECUTION.

The Notorious Murderer Pays the Penalty of His Crimes.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Thomas Neill Cream, the American convicted of the murder of Matilda Clover, Ellen Donworth and Alice Marsh, paid the penalty of his crimes upon the scaffold in Clerkenwell jail this morning. The execution was witnessed only by the officials of the jail. Prior to the prisoner being pinioned he had a long conference with his solicitor, Hon. W. J. Waters. The prisoner walked to the scaffold with a firm step. In appearance, tall and well built, with squarely-set shoulders and straightly poised head, he evidently strove hard to appear at ease, though certain nervous twitchings of the lips and a restlessness of manner betrayed the deep feeling which he tried to stifle. The wearing of spectacles seemed rather to conceal any expression of the eye. His reddish brown beard had grown and materially changed the appearance of his face from that of the clean shaven, heavily moustached man of the popular pictures. His hair, very slight and thin on the top of his head, deepened into dark brown and hung straight at the sides. He wore a sober colored morning coat and vest, with white sailor's knot tie and clean linen. A drop of eight feet was allowed. Death was almost instantaneous. After being cut down the usual inquest was held within the prison and the body buried in a grave filled with quicklime in the northeast corner of the jail yard. Cream, although convicted of the murder of only three women, is probably guilty of more crimes than even Jack the Ripper, and in every case so far recorded his homicidal efforts have been directed against the same class of women as those operated upon by his notorious but unknown rival. Several years ago he was convicted of murder in the state of Illinois, and upon being pardoned by Governor Fifer, resumed his old ways in Quebec, and from that place betook himself to London where justice has at last been meted out to him.

Social Democratic Conference.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—George Vollmar, leader of the South German Social Democrats, and a member of the Reichstag from Munich, arrived in the city to-day, and took part in the Social Democratic Conference. He refused to make any statement concerning his differences with Liebknecht, saying merely, that there would be no trouble in the conference as their quarrel was a thing of the past. This is hardly true, as many delegates are fearful of an open conflict between the leaders to the point of Vollmar's being pushed out of the regular organization. There were 231 delegates besides all the parliamentary deputies at the conference. After a heated discussion in the conference it was decided to refer to a special commission a motion for the expulsion from the party of George Schumacher, member of the Reichstag Salingen, on the ground that he misrepresented his constituents by his attitude toward political questions. After the appointment of the commission, the political activity of the party was discussed. Several delegates urged that the Social Democratic leaders show strong opposition to the Clericals, both in election contests and with the Reichstag.

"When I was 4 or 5 years old I had a scrofulous sore on the middle finger of my left hand, which got so bad that the doctors cut the finger off, and later took off more than half my hand. Then the sore broke out on my arm, came out on my neck and face on both sides, nearly destroying the sight of one eye, also on my right arm. Doctors said it was the

MASTERED BY WHISKEY.

Pathetic Appeal of an Old Actor to be Sent to Jail.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Henry Courtine, now old and feeble, but at one time a well-known actor, tottered into the Jefferson Market police court yesterday, and made a pathetic charge against himself.

"I've been drinking, your honor," said he to Justice White, "I can't stop of my own accord. You see, in two weeks my engagement commences with John A. Stevens for a tour of the Southern cities, in the 'Uknown' company, and I must sober up in time to play. Please, Judge, send me away for these two weeks."

"Where were you born?" asked Justice White.

"In Dublin, Judge, where I first played when 18 years old at the Hawkins street theatre. From there I went to Drury Lane theatre, London, and in 1857 came to this country. In my 45 years of professional work I have supported Edwin Forrest, the greatest of stars, yet at the end I am a vagrant, mastered by whiskey. For three years I was a member of Palmer's 'French Flats' company, and until a short time ago played with Louis Aldrich in 'My Partner.' So, Judge, send me away and give an old actor a last chance."

He straightened up and smiled gratefully as Justice White, with a few words of encouragement committed him for ten days to Blackwell's Island.

Agnes Huntington Married.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Episcopal church of St. Thomas was to-day the scene of one of the most elaborate weddings that have so far taken place during the present season, the contracting parties being Mr. Paul D. Cravath, the New York lawyer, and Miss Agnes Huntington, the well-known actress. Mr. Cravath, although a young man, is rapidly becoming one of the most prominent members of the New York bar, and is advantageously connected with the great Westinghouse interests. Miss Huntington will retire from her profession and transfer the scene of her activity from the stage to the more restricted circle of home life.

The Halifax Conference.

HALIFAX, Nov. 15.—The Newfoundland conference terminated this evening and the Canadian delegates have left for Ottawa. The proceedings throughout were of a most harmonious character and the delegates expect good results to follow the interchange of views and the friendly discussions which have taken place. The results of the deliberations of the commission will not be made public until they have first been laid before the respective governments. It is understood, however, that the main subject discussed was the bait question, and that what is hoped by the delegates will be that a satisfactory understanding has been arrived at. The nature of the understanding has been cabled to Sir John Abbott at London. General trade matters were discussed. Canadian delegates carry home with them considerable information which they did not hitherto possess. The question of Newfoundland entering the confederation was only incidentally touched on, and not as a part of the business of the conference.

Where Will He Go?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—In view of President Harrison's approaching retirement from public life there has been much gossip in official circles of late regarding his probable intentions. Although he has a comfortable home and many friends in Indianapolis it is thought that the death of Mrs. Harrison would render a return to the old scenes fraught with remembrances of the past a source of pain rather than consolation. This belief is strengthened by the fact that none of his children are ever again likely to take up their residence at Indianapolis. Russell Harrison is a resident of Helena, Mont., although his business engagements have kept him for the past few years in New York. Mrs. McKee, the President's married daughter, will make her future home in Boston. Her husband, J. R. McKee, has removed to that city with the intention of remaining permanently. Some think he will, when he leaves the White House, locate near his daughter and son-in-law. The President's affection for his little grandson, Bennie McKee, is well known, and it is not believed that he could be happy away from him.

NO PECUNIARY LOSS.

The Dispute Between Dr. Briggs and Union Theological Seminary Not Ruinous.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Opponents of the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Briggs have recently maintained that the split between the Union Theological Seminary and the Presbyterian General Assembly, which practically was brought about on his account, would result in great pecuniary loss to the Seminary. This position has been strongly denied before, but last evening the supporters of the Seminary proved their point by the publication of a letter, signed by four general members of the Board of Directors. This letter was received at the state meeting of the board on November 8th. It is as follows:

"Charles Butler, president of the Board of Directors of the Union Theological Seminary. Dear sir: Inasmuch as the Union Theological Seminary has resumed the position intended by its founders, its charter and its constitution, we desire to express our hearty approval of the principle of its management by its own board of directors, also our confidence that its affairs will be so administered as best to promote the spiritual life and growth of its students and of the Presbyterian church of which we are members. Therefore, in order that the seminary may be placed on a sound financial basis by a substantial addition to its general fund and by the completion of the endowments of its professorship fund, we take great pleasure in presenting, without conditions, the sum of $175,000. We remain, John Crossley Brown, W. E. Dodge, Dr. Willis James, Morris K. Jesup."

Dr. James gave $100,000 of the amount and Messrs. Jessup, Brown and Dodge gave $25,000 each. Another gentleman whose name is not yet announced has promised, it is said, another $25,000, which will bring the entire donation up to an even $200,000.

An Irish Army.

SOMEWHAT IN ERROR.

The Oregonian thus discourses on the seizure of Canadian sealers by the Russians:—

Ten days ago British war vessels were dispatched to Vladivostock to investigate, and while an effort to retake the captured vessels by force is hardly probable, it is among the possibilities. It is certain England cannot submit to the Russian claim of jurisdiction in those waters outside the five-mile limit, without prejudicing her case against the United States in the pending arbitration. The headquarters of the Russian squadron are at Vladivostock, and the squadron comprises a dozen vessels, under the command of Admiral Tirthoff. Rear-Admiral Hotham is in command of the British squadron, with headquarters at Vancouver, and has eight vessels. A fight at Vladivostock would not necessarily precipitate a war between Russia and England, unless both parties have deliberately adopted a policy and propose to adhere to it. It is the custom of the English navy to defend her merchant vessels from capture and to retake them when captured, leaving the nice points to be settled afterward, but this custom may be honored by a breach in the case of so powerful a nation as Russia. Circumstances alter cases mightily.

It would have been hard for our Portland contemporary to crowd more errors into the space it devoted to this subject. It apparently supposes that the British war vessels were sent from this side of the ocean to Vladivostock, and from this blunder its series of blunders followed. The Oregonian should have known that the vessels that went to Vladivostock belonged to the China squadron, not to that commanded by Admiral Hotham. It should also be aware by this time that Esquimalt, not Vancouver, is the headquarters for the Pacific squadron. But these blunders are of a mild order compared with the fearful and wonderful information imparted by the Oregonian in regard to the customs of the British navy and its speculations as to the result of a naval conflict at Vladivostock. It is to be feared that our Portland friend has been less anxious to receive or give a correct view of the situation than to enjoy a fling at Britain and her navy.

THE TWO LEAGUES.

There seems to be some confusion in the ideas of the public with respect to Imperial Federation, a confusion which arises from the existence of two separate and distinct "leagues" having imperialist objects in view. It is no part of the Imperial Federation League's programme to bring about the adoption of a mutually preferential tariff by the different parts of the Empire. True, this idea is favored by Sir Charles Tupper and by some other members of the League, but it is very firmly and distinctly repudiated by the leading Englishmen who have had a part in the movement. Lord Rosebery was the League's president until he took office recently, and it would be hard to find a more uncompromising free trader and opponent of the preferential tariff idea than he is. It is not very long since he offered strenuous objections to the Imperial Federation League's purposes being coupled with this preferential trade scheme. Lord Brassey, the Earl of Aberdeen, Sir Lyon Playfair and Sir John Lubbock are all prominent members of the League, yet they are all determined opponents of any departure from the present trade system of Great Britain. It might have been noticed, too, that Mr. Parkin in his address here did not advocate the preferential trade scheme. Some time ago there was a committee appointed by the League to draw up a definite scheme of federation, the taunt having been offered that the idea had never been placed on a practical basis. A summary of this committee's report was given in a recent dispatch to the Globe, which was reproduced in the TIMES. The dispatch said:—

The committee suggests the formation of an Imperial Council, to give a united voice to the Empire in time of peace, and to enable the defence of the Empire in time of war to be undertaken by its united forces and resources. The council should consist, it urges, of members appointed by each of the various self-governing colonies, also of the British Prime Minister, the Secretaries of State for Foreign Affairs, for War, for the Colonies, and for India, of the First Lord of the Admiralty and the Chancellor of the Exchequer. The method of raising funds at the outset should be left to the choice of the self-governing states, but a uniform principle might afterwards be found and substituted.

There is no mention of preferential tariff in this, and if there had been any such proposal incorporated in the committee's report it would have been very summarily rejected by the League. For the present our object is not either to uphold or condemn the Imperial Federation movement; we only wish to show that it is purely federationist, and that the trade preference scheme is altogether a separate affair. It is just as well for those who discuss Imperial Federation to remember this point.

The body with which the Imperial Federation League has been confused is the United Empire Trade League, which has for its chief spokesmen in England Col. Howard Vincent and Sir Charles Tupper. The prominent place sought after by the latter gentleman in both leagues has led most to the confusion. The preferential tariff scheme is the fad of the United Empire Trade men, not of the Imperial Federationists. As we have said, the most prominent of the latter oppose most energetically any connection of their body with the Trade League scheme.

THE DEFECTIVE N. P.

The N. P. is not perfect. We make this bold assertion not on the authority of any unregenerate Grit, but on the strength of a discovery for which an ardent protectionist must be given credit. The heretic in this case is the Canadian Manufacturer, which is looked upon as the confidential organ of the Red Parlor itself, and the imperfection in the Red Parlor taxation scheme detected by the Manufacturer is the duty on coal oil. This duty, says the spokesman for protection, is not properly a protective duty, but a tax, which should be removed. The Manufacturer thus argues:—

According to the ethics of protection the National Policy was intended to apply to manufacturing industries where there was a probability that within a reasonable time these industries would become developed to an extent where the demands of the home market would be supplied by them, and at reasonably low prices. If experience showed that the prevailing duty was not sufficient to effect this, but that it might be accomplished under a higher duty, then the higher duty should be imposed. But if it is found that the duty is sufficiently high, and that the development from any cause is not probable or possible, then the duty is clearly not for protection, but for revenue only. If this is the case—if it is a fact that a high duty will not develop the industries, and that it is not desirable to obtain revenue in that particular manner, then it is clear that the duty should be modified or removed to meet the emergency. It might be unfortunate for the investors, but better for the whole country.

There can be little doubt about the coal oil duty being simply a tax, and a very heavy tax too, amounting to about 200 per cent. on the value of the imported article. If the Manufacturer lived in British Columbia, where none but imported oil is used, it would be still more decided in its opinion on this point. It is indeed a completely unjustifiable impost, favoring a very few at the expense of the many. But does not this same charge lie against nearly all the "protective" imposts applied by the N.P.? Who is to be the judge as to the point whereat a duty proves itself truly protective by its industry-developing powers? So far, the men directly interested in the imposition of each duty have been allowed to judge of this matter for themselves, and, notwithstanding the Manufacturer's discovery, this method is likely to be followed so long as the present Dominion Government remain in power. If the coal oil duty is successfully attacked the coal oil men will see that other duties are in their turn removed. We could wish the Manufacturer success in its crusade, because we know that if one such prop as the petroleum duty were taken away the whole rotten structure of the "national policy" would come to the ground. But it will not be taken away by the Manufacturer's friends. It was at Petrolia, the heart of the Canadian oil region, that Sir John Thompson not long ago made his emphatic declaration about the Government having no new policy to formulate. There is no hope of the oil duty being removed or reduced, or any other reform of the tariff being effected, until the people have voted for a change of government. The thought that they will be induced to do so by such iniquities as the coal oil duty, the sugar duty, the tax on binder twine, and the tax on mining machinery, fills the soul of the Manufacturer with fear and induces it to embark on such crusades as this we have spoken of. The uprising of the American people against protectionism will not tend to allay its fears.

DR. HALL REPLIES.

TO THE EDITOR:—It is not my purpose to pander to public curiosity in the exposure of epidemic varieties, but I am compelled by Mr. Smith's letter in your last evening's issue to state a few facts with reference to the illness of his child.

During the early part of the illness the child suffered from considerable indigestion, and also developed a mild case of bronchitis. Upon my return from the mainland, after an absence of three days, Dr. Mackechnie and I examined the child, and a diagnosis of smallpox was made. Mrs. Smith was at once made acquainted with the facts, and word was sent to Mr. Smith. Yet Mr. Smith affirms that five doctors concluded that the child did not suffer from smallpox. ERNEST HALL.

DR. NANSEN'S SHIP.

The Vessel in Which He Will Explore the Arctic Ocean.

London Daily Graphic.

Dr. Nansen's ship for Arctic discovery, which has been built at Laurvik, Norway, at the works of Colin Archer, a gentleman of Scotch descent, is designed specially to withstand the buffetings of Arctic storms. This will be effected, it is hoped, not only by its solid construction, but also from the shape of the vessel's hull, which, being much rounded and flat, it is thought will enable the vessel to rise when nipped by the ice, possibly to such an extent as to rest entirely on the ice surface, when the ice by its presumed movement will form the means of further locomotion, convey the vessel from the neighborhood of the Liakov Islands, past the North Pole, and eventually launch it on the waters of the Greenland Sea. Probably no vessel has ever been built for the purpose of Arctic exploration with greater foresight or care, or, indeed, of stouter or better materials. In form Dr. Nansen's ship resembles a Scotch buckie boat, only that it is carvel-built and rigged as a three-masted schooner.

Both stem and stern are considerably curved, as in the buckie boats, but by an ingenious arrangement the rudder will be entirely submerged, and both it and the screw may be raised when necessary and protected from damage in well. The stern is furnished with two perpendicular sternposts—one a propeller post, the other a rudder-post. Outside these on both sides are bolted curved oak-timbers, which give the vessel its whaleboat appearance. Between them is the well for both screw and rudder. The frame timbers are of the best material, free from defects, about 13 inches thick at the keel and 8½ inches at the deck, ranged in couples squared, and bolted together, all joints being bound with iron. Between each pair is a space of about two inches, which is filled in with asphalt, so that if the outer planking was chafed away the vessel would still remain water tight. Above the frame timbers are placed two keelsons, one seventeen inches and the other twelve inches in height, both being bolted together to the timbers and keel, which latter is in two pieces, composed of baulks of elm fourteen inches square. The stem is composed of four baulks, fifteen inches broad and thirteen inches thick, bolted together with oak tierails. The inner sternpost is of larger dimensions than the keel, the outer one being the same as the keel, both attached to the latter by strong cross and longitudinal iron clamps, and outside the after sternpost is a "stern stem" or cutwater, 10½ inches by 21 inches thick. The planking consists of a 3¼ inch oak skin, over which another of 4½ inches, and finally an outer planking or "ice sheathing" of from 3¼ inches to 6½ inches green heart. The ceiling consists of pitch-pine planks, alternately 4¼ inches and 8½ inches in thickness. There are two decks, an upper and lower one, each of 4 inch pine. The deck beams are of oak and pitch-pine 11½ inches square. Upper stanchions are placed as supports to the beams and united to them by large knees. A halfdeck or poop, 3 feet in height, covers the cabins and engine room. Externally there will not be any appearance of a keel, as the outer planking will lie even with its base, so that there will not be any projection below water that the ice can get hold of.

The cross section of the vessel thus resembles a bowl cut in two halves. The engines, manufactured at the Akers Works, Christiania, are of 169 indicated horse-power, and with a consumption of about two and three-quarters tons of coal a day, give her a speed of about six knots. She will carry enough coal for about three and a half months' constant steaming. Rigged as a three-masted schooner, she will make most use of her sail power, which will have an area of 600 square meters. The mainmasts is 82 feet in length, and the topmast 49 feet, the view from the barrel being thus about 105 feet above the water. She carries seven boats, of which two, somewhat larger than the others, are fitted up so as to be able to carry the entire crew, if necessary, for provisions for several months, as well as a warm tent or covering.

The principal dimensions of the boat are as follows: Length of keel, 31.00 meters; length at waterline, 34.50 metres; length over all, 39.00 meters; beam at water-line amidships, excluding the "ice sheathing," 12.40 metres; greatest beam, excluding the "ice sheathing," 11.00 metres; depth moulded, 5.35 metres; draught, with light cargo, 3.75 metres; displacement with light cargo, 530 tons; displacement at draught of 4.75 metres, 800 tons. The hull, with engines and boilers filled, weighs about 420 tons. With a draught of 4.75 metres she has one metre's freeboard. Thus she has a bearing capacity for 380 tons of coal and cargo. Dr. Nansen and his brother explorers intend to leave Norway in February next.

PROHIBITION AND LIQUOR.

The Royal Commission Appointed by the House of Commons to Take Evidence in Victoria.

The Working of the License System to Receive the Commissioners' Attention Here.

Judge McDonald, Brockville, Ont., and Rev. Dr. McLeod, of Fredericton, N.B., two of the commissioners appointed by the Dominion Government to enquire into the liquor traffic and prohibition, arrived in the city last evening and registered at the Driard. It was the intention for three commissioners to visit the coast, but ex-Mayor E. F. Clarke, of Toronto, the third commissioner, was unable to come. The commissioners are accompanied by Dr. G. B. Bradley, of the Hansard staff, Ottawa, who is the official stenographer, F. S. Spence, for the Dominion Alliance, and L. P. Kribbs, representing the distillers and brewers of the Dominion.

The commission was appointed by a resolution of the House of Commons in June, 1891, the matter having been pressed by the prohibitionists. Last year the commission visited the Maritime provinces, and since then they have been taking evidence in Ontario and Quebec. In September they started west, visiting the principal points in Manitoba and the Northwest territories. Banff was the last place at which they held a session.

To-morrow morning the commission will commence work in Victoria, sitting for two days. They will then go to Nanaimo, thence to Vancouver and New Westminster. After they have concluded their work in British Columbia they will go to California to enquire into the condition of affairs in the prohibition towns of Pasadena and Ontario.

Judge McDonald was seen at the Driard this morning by a TIMES representative. The commission, he said, had a large scope. It had been called a prohibition commission and a liquor traffic commission, but it was neither. Their commission authorized them to enquire into the workings of the prohibition and license systems, both in Canada and other countries. In British Columbia, of course, the latter system would have to receive their attention as prohibition had never been tried here. The rule adopted was to first call as a witness the mayor of the city in which the commission is sitting, then the judges, the police magistrates, hospital doctors, superintendents of asylums and superintendents of police. This the official evidence, having been taken, the witnesses subpœnaed by Mr. Spence for the Dominion Alliance and Mr. L. P. Kribbs for the brewers and distillers, are called alternately. "In this way," said Judge McDonald, "the commission obtains all the evidence required."

The rule will be adopted in Victoria, Mayor Beaven being the first witness examined to-morrow morning.

Quashed, or Not to Be.

The Chinese lottery cases will again come up in the police court to-morrow morning. The police say that they have further evidence and will be able to legally prove that the tickets sold were lottery tickets. Lawyer Mills smiles and winks his weather eye. It is current that Mr. Mills has another treat for the police in the shape of a fine "point" which may quash the whole affair.

Being Thoroughly Overhauled.

The schooner E. B. Marvin is being given a general overhauling from her rails to topmasts. She is now the property of the firm of E. B. Marvin & Co., she having only been bid in for them by R. Seabrooke. She is being rerigged and will be given a new set of sails. The work is being done under the direction of Captain J. G. Cox.

Is It Right This Time?

Mrs. Senton has been summoned to appear in the police court to-morrow (Thursday) morning. She is charged with setting a dog on Chan Chow. Mrs. Senton is the "woman in black," as the celestial designated her. Mrs. Shaw was summoned instead of Mrs. Senton a week ago.

The Democrat Will Ride.

Punctually at 8 o'clock this evening an election bet will be settled between two residents of James Bay. It will be a wheel-barrow ride; to start from the corner of Humboldt and Government streets around the block. The motive power will be supplied by a good old Republican, and the rider is a solid Democrat. The exhibition is sure to take place no matter what the night may be like.

They Dance and Make Merry.

Refreshments were then served and dancing was the order of the evening.

That Double Car Track.

A director of the tramway company was asked by a TIMES man when the company proposed to lay a double track on Government street. The director replied that the company had not yet decided anything about the matter. In cities in America where the principal streets were no wider than Government street there was no objection to a double track. A double track would not be in the way of traffic.

The Zambesi Departs.

The steamship Zambesi of the N. P. steamer line arrived from Tacoma at 8:30 this morning and left about noon for China and Japan. She is carrying back nearly a full cargo of freight this trip. It is composed largely of flour. She took 3000 sacks of flour and 44 Chinese passengers here this morning. She has aboard a number of Chinese from the Sound. Her only white passengers are a missionary and his wife. The Zambesi looks very trim and neat. She has been nicely fixed up and is now a good comfortable ship. This is her regular scheduled sailing day.

The Electric Car the Cause.

H. Young appeared in the police court against R Flaman, driver for J. B. Johnson, baker. The charge against Flaman was that he drove on Saturday night faster than six miles an hour on Government street. Mr. Young testified that he was struck by the horse on the shoulder, and that a deaf mute named Jas. Garston was knocked down and run over by the vehicle driven by Flaman. Garston was badly hurt. Flaman had witnesses who testified that the horses were frightened by the electric car, shied and were uncontrollable. The case was dismissed.

Madame Laird, who has been engaged to give vocal instruction at the Conservatory of Music has arrived and has commenced work. Those wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity of studying under a competent teacher should make application at once to the director. Madame Laird is a pupil of Alfred J. ## BACK FROM ENGLAND.

Mr. Aitken, the Mining Specialist, Returns from a Trip to the Old Country.

He is Accompanied by One of the Most Prominent English Engineers.

Mr. R. Aitken and Mr. E. Williams, the former a mining specialist and the latter one of the most prominent of English engineers, have been in the city for several days. Mr. Aitken is not a stranger in Victoria. He was here for several weeks last spring, while on his way from Peru to England. During his stay here he was asked to visit the Kootenay country, which he did, gathering, during his trip, samples of ore from the different mines, among them the Thunder Hill. He also obtained samples from the Sooke iron mines. All these samples he took to England and put through a mill, which elaborated them.

"The results of these tests," said Mr. Aitken to a TIMES reporter to-day, "were even better than had been expected, the ores assaying a great deal more than when they were tested in Victoria."

He had not received details of all the tests yet, but expects them from London in a few days.

Mr. Williams is on his first visit to Victoria, but he is well known by reputation. He was one of the originators of the Vernon water system for the city of Liverpool, and figured prominently in many other engineering schemes in the old country.

Mr. Aitken was asked what the object of their visit to Victoria was.

"It is not for nothing, you may be certain of that," he said, "but at present I cannot say what it is. It is for the benefit of the province, and Victoria particularly, however.

Mr. Aitken brought back with him plans and specifications for a 350 ton plant for the Thunder Hill Mining Company. The 300 tons of ore sent to London to test the different machines with a view of obtaining the best, was all used. It was found that the ore was good smelting ore. Mr. Aitken drew the plans and made out the specifications after these tests had been made. The company has already a 50 ton plant at the mine, but they expect to put in a larger one next year.

BROKE CUSTOMS LAW.

John MacLeod Fails to Enter or Clear His Sloop at This Port.

It looks as if John MacLeod, owner of the American sloop Roma, is in hot water. The sloop lies in the harbor under seizure by the Customs for not entering and clearing. On November 2nd the Roma entered the harbor. She did not report and left in the dead of night of the 5th, without clearance papers. On the 8th inst. she again put into the harbor; she was then warned that she could not enter or leave without reporting. On Friday last she left and did not clear, and on Sunday took a man and two women aboard just outside the harbor, and was next seen in Esquimalt.

McLeod asserts that he is engaged in fishing and that one John Moore, of Port Townsend, owns the craft. It has been learned since that Moore is not the owner, and the Roma is known not to have any fishing tackle aboard.

The fine is $400. The particulars have been forwarded to Ottawa and McLeod has been given a chance to tell his story in writing to the Minister of Customs at Ottawa. Until the Ottawa authorities are heard from the Roma will remain under seizure.

A Pupil Sent Home.

Miss King, a teacher in the public school, under instructions from Mr. Netherby, principal of the boy's department, has refused to receive a boy named Wm. Spence as a pupil, because he has not been vaccinated. The boy is a son of Wm. Spence, 291 Johnson street, who is opposed to vaccination of his children. The action of the teacher raises the question of the legality of the order-in-council, and possibly the anti-vaccinationists will make it the ground of an action to test the position of authorities.

Scenes From the Old Country.

To-morrow evening in Sir William Wallace Hall a lime light exhibition will be given depicting scenes in the British Islands. A very clever lecture is given with the views, clearly explaining each scene and giving many facts of historical and general interest. This will be a great chance for everybody who enjoys art. The pictures are of the highest class.

M'LEAN'S NEW CHALLENGE.

Alexander McLean has a challenge out against Tamarano. McLean proposes to give Tamarano 100 yards in a canoe race. The race is to take place from Jones' boat house around the stake in the Gorge and return. Mac relies on his endurance to help him through this time. He has really wonderful staying powers, and has been known to row a heavy fishing boat from the Pitt River bridge to New Westminster at a good pace without missing a stroke, distance nine miles, also back again against the current in the same way.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PLOUGHING MATCH.

TO THE SPORTING EDITOR.—In reply to Mr. Rose and Mr. Munro, they will not plough me without handicapping me. Putting it off for four weeks means no ploughing. Everyone knows that the ground will be frozen so that we could not plough. I mean business. If the ploughing doesn't come off in two weeks there will be no ploughing this winter. If those gentlemen didn't want the earth they would have accepted my challenge to give them choice of any even ploughs. They don't wish to do that. There were four ploughs in the match on Saturday. I will give either of them the first choice inside of two weeks. Surely a man with two diplomas would accept this challenge. If he does I will agree to post twenty dollars against his diploma on the side. Feeling sure he will accept this I remain, yours,

BI-METALLISM.

To the Editor: In continuation of my last letter on bi-metallism. which appeared in your issue of the 7th inst., I beg to give further particulars, taken from the last "Times of India" to hand last mail, and which may prove of interest to your readers.

"We suppose it may be assumed that this currency question is a trade question, so that since England lives by trade it becomes a national question. We will consider England's interests from the land-owning, the farming, the manufacturing and trading, and from the banking points of view. How do English farmers find cheap silver or dear gold affect them? In India the cost of wheat remains much the same as it was, but as the sovereign can now buy close on 70 per cent. more wheat than it used to buy, the English farmer has to sell his produce proportionately cheaper. He beats down his rent, but even with the large reductions of rent in recent years he finds he cannot make ends meet. The land-owning interest is the largest interest in England, but if the farmer is ruined, what becomes of the land owner? What becomes of land mortgages by insurance companies and banks, and of lenders generally on the security of land? As regards the manufacturing districts, the telegrams from England tell of the depression there. The mill owners in Lancashire say that their profits are gone, and naturally think that their work people should accept the other half of the solitary loaf which is left. But the workers do not see it, and decline to submit to any curtailment of their income.

"Traders with the Eastern markets find their capital leaking fast away, from the risks incidental to fluctuating exchange. And amidst all this how do the bankers fare? Lombard street and Threadneedle street have been loudest in their determination to have no 'tampering' with the currency. They find gold the handiest metal to work with. They have gold and lend it, and they scout the idea of giving up their loved standard for anything else. But it is the banking interest that must suffer more than any other from the present tendency of things. So long as England can keep a certain stock of gold on hand she is safe, but with continental countries all striving for gold, and with England buying so heavily of breadstuffs from America, her position is a most critical one. It is not at all an unlikely thing that England may find herself facing another Baring crisis, with her neighbor, France, in a less obliging frame of mind than she was in 1890, and how would she then fare? Since the Baring crisis, bankers' customers have not become richer, but rather the reverse. Securities are lower in value, cotton has fallen seriously, freights all over the world are lower than ever before recorded, and eastern exchange has cut off some of the right hand figures from many fortunes, and the probability is that England is in a worse position to stand a crisis than she was in November, 1890. But money is cheap now; cheaper than ever. Why is it cheap? Because of the stagnation of business generally. Some of the leading financial papers see rocks ahead, and even the most hopeful do not expect to see a long continuance of the present relatively fair weather. The scarcity of gold in England was the trouble during the Baring crisis, and this will probably be intensified at each succeeding crisis. The fact is that, with trade expanding as of late, the production of gold is too small for the increasing calls upon it, and the effect of this is seen more in England than in any other country.

With regard to the approaching conference, and the general opinion that England's determination to retain her present standard will render the conference abortive, there are some considerations which it will be well to bear in mind at the present time. America is in earnest over this matter, and it is believed that France will do what she can to assist silver—though how much that utmost may be we are not quite sure. Suppose that America and France should lay their heads together, with Germany possibly as approving, and should declare for free coinage of gold and silver on the old basis of 15½ to 1, thus re-introducing bi-metallism, what would the effect of this be? It would be disastrous to India, but it would affect England by raising the price of all her Indian imports. But America has another plan for forcing England's hand. She is less pleased with her protective policy than she was, and there is a growing party in the States in favor of lower import duties, or even of free trade. Suppose America were to offer free trade to those who would join with her in bi-metallism, could England afford to hold aloof? Would her manufacturers and her operatives allow her to stand aloof? With trade depressed all over England, as it is to-day, could England afford to allow the Americans to buy their imports past her? America's interest in silver is now enormous, and, to a smaller extent, so is that of France, and if England blocks the way at the conference we must be prepared for those two nations acting as it suits them, and not as it suits her. London is at present the monetary centre of the world. Financial undertakings originated in all parts of the globe are as a rule ultimately settled in London, and the reason of this is because London has been the cheapest money market. Of late years, however, there has been a change, and London has not been so cheap as bi-metallic Paris, while the fluctuations in the value of money have been more frequent and much greater in England than in France. Between February, 1889, and November, 1890, there were fourteen changes in the Bank of England rate, but not one change in the Bank of France rate all that time. As regards the average rates of discount ruling, the following will show that England has been a dearer market than France. The figures are taken up to November, 1890: 1886 90, England, 3½ per cent. average; France, 3 1-25 per cent. The Economist's weekly figures for the 291 days, from January 1st till October 18th, 1890, show that London was higher than Paris on 214 days, ranging from ⅛ per cent. to 2 ⅜ per cent., the average being 1 ⅜ per cent. London was lower than Paris on 70 days, ranging from ⅛ per cent. to ¾ per cent., the average being ⅜ per cent. On seven days the rates were the same. In the whole period of 291 days London's average was ⅞ per cent. higher than Paris. Fluctuations in the rate of discount are just as disturbing to financiers as fluctuations in exchange are to eastern traders. On the whole, then, we believe it has been made clear that England's interest in the silver question is considerable, not solely because of her connection with India, but because her success as a trading nation depends on her actions now, and that sooner or later she will be obliged, possibly only after a period of great commercial distress, to recognize silver in her currency system. Were silver and gold legally married the increasing production of silver would be a cause of rejoicing, because it would make up for the scarcity of gold. It is evident that with commerce expanding everywhere England needs an expanding basis of currency, and this the present large supplies of silver must provide. H. H. B.

Victoria, Nov. 15, 1892.

THE CHINESE.

To the Editor:—I notice by your paper that there is an endeavor in Vancouver to scatter the Chinese settlements by the public health law. In that city 300 cubic feet for each adult is admitted to be the correct thing. In Victoria our sanitary board calls for 384 cubic feet of air, in addition to certain windows for light and air, etc. If Vancouver is passing this law, why do not the authorities here? By taking this measure they must force Chinese to healthier abodes. Then some of the 600 empty houses would be occupied; times would be better, etc. While on this question wouldn't it be better for our city exchequer if the poll and school taxes were raised to $12 per head on the Chinese? For it is well known that they spend but little among the white population and draw their substance from the same. Some say it is hard to collect any taxes from them. Methinks the difficulty could be overcome if every Chinaman were made to carry his receipt on his person, and in addition made to wear a numbered medal on his clothes. Legislation could make a law to that effect. Then all caught without it arrest and fine, say $5. Our city fathers could make this a law. Then the whites would have less competition. V. E. O.

The Concert by the Y.M.C.A. Next Wednesday Worth Noting.

The grand concert and tableaux to be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. at the Victoria theatre next Wednesday evening, the 23rd inst., promises to be not only one of the finest entertainments of the season, from a purely artistic point of view, but also one of the most fashionable.

The entertainment is under the direct patronage of His Hon. Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Dewdney, Rear Admiral Hotham, C.B., and the officers of H.B.M.'s Pacific squadron, Lieut.-Colonel Holmes and officers of C. Battery; His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Beaven, and, indeed, the society leaders of the city.

Late and early the ladies have worked to perfect the arrangements for the entertainment and now they can with confidence look forward to Wednesday evening assured that those who attend will have no occasion to grumble at the programme, the variety of amusement or its quality.

It may be mentioned that this occasion will be the first public appearance of the new Vice Regal party. The audience will undoubtedly be one of the most brilliant ever gathered in Victoria, as the well known gallantry of the naval and military officers will forbid them being absent when "the fair" are to be so well represented on the platform; besides, this is a chivalric duty, and will surely be performed.

The singing, instrumental music and special numbers will be of the first-class. Many will go to hear Mr. W. Ralph Higgins sing for the first time in public since his return from the leading conservatoires of Europe. It is reported that this will be one of the special treats of the evening, Mr. Higgins being said to possess, not only a voice of rich, full compass, but superbly trained. The military drill by a petit battalion of pretty young girls, under the command of a C battery disciplinarian, will also awaken enthusiasm and cause delight. The band of H. M. S. Warspite needs no encomium here. The tableaux, under the consummate management of Mrs. Harris, will be certain to completely capture the fancy of the audience and win a storm of applause.

Everybody should eliminate all other engagements from the Wednesday evening, 23rd Nov., space in the diary, and write, "Y.M.C.A. concert-tableaux" in red ink and very large.

Number of Steamship Changes.

On Monday the Pacific Coast Steamship Company steamer Queen sailed from San Francisco for Astoria and Portland. The Queen will take the place of the steamer State, which vessel is to be taken off and will receive a thorough overhauling. The steamer City of Topeka, which has been on the Alaska route for the last two years, has been placed in first-class condition and will go back on the Alaska route, leaving San Francisco on or about the 17th instant. She will take the place of the Al-Ki and that steamer will come to San Francisco. The Topeka will make the Alaska trip by Puget Sound ports, but she will carry only Alaska freight from San Francisco and no Puget Sound passengers. The passengers for Alaska will leave San Francisco on the Umatilla, sailing on the 20th instant, and connect with the City of Topeka at Port Townsend.

A Well-Spent Evening.

Large numbers attended the At Home given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Pandora avenue Methodist church at the residence of Mrs. Dempster last night. A good musical programme was rendered. Mr. Scharfe admirably performed on the violin, and Miss McDonald's executions on the same instrument showed her an artiste of skill. Miss Luney and Miss Bertha Burkholder sang sweet solos, and Miss Butler's recitation held the attention of the pleasant gathering. The proceeds were for the building fund.

Misleading its Readers.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer has the following lying comment on the smallpox, a piece with the rest of its attempts to "place" the disease: 'The twenty-five cases of smallpox in Washington are all traceable to British Columbia. Most of the cases in the Northwest are in Vancouver and on Vancouver island. Hence these are the places to be quarantined against.

Resorted to Tricky Methods.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The attention of Secretary of State Foster was to-night directed to a dispatch from Ottawa to the effect that the U.S. naval officers had resorted to tricky methods in collecting the evidence of the Indians on the Pacific coast to be used in the Behring Sea arbitration, and that the reports were being investigated by a British commissioner in the Government steamer Quadra. The Secretary expressed surprise that such reports have been given currency from the Dominion capital, and said he did not believe it was with the knowledge or consent of the officials. Captain Hooper, of the Corwin, the only vessel named, is an officer long in the service, of the highest character, and believed to be incapable of a dishonorable act.

Appeal for Sympathy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, has issued a circular to the public in which he appeals for financial aid and moral sympathy for the Homestead strikers. Mr. Gompers says it has been decided by the Amalgamated Association, the representatives of the men, and the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, to designate Tuesday, December 13, as Homestead Day, and he calls on the wage-earners as well as liberty loving citizens to make the contribution of a portion of their earnings of that day to aid the struggling Homesteaders in the contest to defend themselves before the courts. The cases, he adds, must be brought before the highest tribunals of our country if necessary.

The Deacon Squabble.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—Edward Parker Deacon's lawyer said to-day the procedure in the Court of Appeal to-morrow in the Deacon case would not admit of witnesses being heard. He added: "We can produce sworn affidavits, and have abundant proof that Mrs. Deacon for a long time neglected her children, and in other respects she is unfit to have the custody of her daughters. Other evidence will depend upon the line followed by her counsel. Mr. Deacon will not press matters against his wife further than she forces him in order to obtain the custody of his daughters.

Arrested for Fraud.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Herr Gerlach, the architect and building inspector of Altona, whose failure for 500,000 marks some two months ago created such a sensation in Hamburg, has been arrested, together with his wife and his mother-in-law, charged with conspiring to defraud his creditors by suppressing some 300,000 marks of his assets. Gerlach was originally a mason and by industry and careful speculation amassed considerable money. He built several streets in Altona and was one of the most prominent citizens.

Experiments in Hypnotism.

Some experiments recently made at the Charite hospital in Paris by Dr. Luys, on the "exteriorization" of the human body, are so remarkable as to challenge special attention. One who was present declares that Dr. Luys was able to transfer a woman's sensibility into a tumbler of water. The tumbler was then taken out of the sight of the hypnotized person, and the representative was invited to touch the water. As his hand came in contact with it, the woman started as if in pain. This experiment was repeated several times, the requisite precaution being taken that the hypnotized subject should not see the contact between the hands and the water. The water retained the sensibility a considerable time. It is also stated that Dr. Luys was able to confirm the wonderful discovery made by Col. Roche, administrator of the Ecole Polytechnique, who found that it was possible to transfer the sensibility of a hypnotised person to the negative of a photograph of the subject, and that the subject not only felt, but showed signs of any mark made on the negative. For instance, if a scratch were drawn with a pin across the hand on the negative after the subject has been charged with sensibility, the subject would give a cry of pain, and a few instants later a mark similar to that made on the negative would be visible on the hand of the subject. Scientific circles in Paris are taking great interest in these experiments.

MUSIC'S SOOTHING CHARMS.

Splendid Success of the First Concert by St. Andrew's Choral Society.

St. Andrew's cathedral choral society gave a recital of sacred music last evening at the Institute hall, by which name the old pro-cathedral on View street is now known.

The society was assisted by Albert Hawthorn, the basso, and J. E. Bridgman, accompanist, and Aloys Werner, musical director of the society, was conductor. The concert was a surprise even to the warmest friends of the participants. In the ranks of the society are some voices not only excellent but remarkable, and that, with the excellence of the programme made the affair a most pleasant one.

The opening number was "Great is Jehova the Lord" (Schubert), F. H. Lang singing the tenor solo. This gentleman is improving rapidly. Miss A. Dolan then rendered Mendelssohn's "He Counteth all Our Sorrows" in an excellent manner.

One of the most effective numbers on the programme was then rendered. It was "Veni Vini Sancte Spiritus" (D. Muller) by a quintette composed of A. Werner, F. H. Lang, S. Aspland, F. Sehl and C. J. Oliver.

Mr. Hawthorn, who substituted "Rocked in the cradle of the deep" for "The Resurrection," by request, was enthusiastically received. He was in fine voice and gave the notes a full, swelling round intonation. It was a perfectly rendered song. He had to repeat the last verse for an encore.

Misses A. Dolan and M. Stewart and Mr. Werner then gave Millard's "Qui Tollis," in a manner that evoked applause. The society rendered the "Gloria" in a style that won the admiration of the audience. The soprano and alto solos "Sanctus" and "Agnus Dei" were here sung by Mrs. W. J. Macaulay and Miss K. Burnes, with the society rendering the choruses. Mrs. Macaulay has a strong contralto that is pleasing, while the voice of Miss Burnes, though not loud or powerful, is of charming sweetness. The two blended exquisitely.

Mr. Werner was given a hearty encore after his rendition of the old favorite, "Watchman, will the night soon pass?" Mr. Werner has a sweet tenor voice, which has been perfectly trained.

Verdi's "Jesu Dei Vivi" was rendered by Miss Goddyn, Messrs. A. Werner and F. H. Lang. Mr. Hawthorn appeared again and gave "Lord God of Abraham" from "Elijah." He was very freely applauded. The "Credo" sung by the society, with the solos by Miss Goddyn and Mr. S. A. Aspland, was the last piece. Mr. Aspland, although a very young man, has a marvellously pleasing tenor voice, and is rapidly learning to use it to the best advantage. Miss Goddyn, the other soloist, needs no introduction to Victoria's little musical world.

The society is to be congratulated on the recital, and it is hoped that the entertainment will be repeated at an early date. There would certainly be a large gathering, which such sublime music so capitally rendered well deserves.

Hereditary Snobbery.

It is stated that the ex-Crown Prince of Sweden, who, since his marriage with a lady not of royal blood, has been known as Count Bernadotte, has been pardoned by his incensed parent, and will again resume his title of Royal Highness. Surely it is time that all the nonsensical laws concerning these royal marriages were altered. In this case, the son of a king whose family was founded less than a century ago, by a man who started in life as a private soldier in the French Revolutionary army, is considered to have placed himself beyond the pale of society on account of his marriage with a lady belonging to one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in Sweden. Truly, the men who rose from the ruins of the French Revolution lost no time in outpacing their masters in the principles of hereditary snobbery.—Leeds Times.

Some fancy the charms of the lily-white maid,
Of otherial form and languishing eye,
Who faints in the sunshine and droops in the shade,
And is always "just ready to die,"
But give me the girl of the sunshiny face,
The blood in whose veins courses healthy and free,
With the vigor of youth in her movements of grace.
Oh, that is the maiden for me!

She is the girl to "tie to" for life. The sickly, complaining woman may be an object of love and pity, but she ceases to be a "thing of beauty" worn down by female weakness and disorders, subject to hysteria and martyr to bearing-down pains. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure cure for these distressing complaints, and will transform the feeble, drooping sufferer into a healthy, happy, blooming woman. Guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it refunded.
